Rohde & Schwarz Networks and Cybersecurity takes Silver again in 2025 in the EcoVadis sustainability rating

Aachen, 27 October 2025—The German network-infrastructure and security supplier and Rohde & Schwarz subsidiary Rohde & Schwarz Networks and Cybersecurity has once again been awarded the EcoVadis Silver Medal for its sustainability management in the areas of environment, labor and human rights, ethics, and sustainable procurement. This places LANCOM among the top 15 percent of companies rated worldwide in the EcoVadis sustainability rating over the last 12 months.

EcoVadis is a global company specializing in assessing companies' sustainability performance. The EcoVadis sustainability rating is considered a global standard. More than 150,000 companies undergo independent assessments by EcoVadis to objectively evaluate themselves and their supply chain. The rating includes 21 sustainability criteria covering the four core topics of environment, labor and human rights, ethics, and sustainable procurement. Rohde & Schwarz Networks and Cybersecurity has participated in the EcoVadis sustainability rating since 2015. The current award once again confirms the quality of sustainability management at LANCOM.

Constantin von Reden, Managing Director of Rohde & Schwarz Networks and Cybersecurity, is proud: “We have been successfully participating in the EcoVadis sustainability rating for ten years now. Despite increased requirements, we were able to renew our Silver status and further improve our performance, particularly in the areas of the* environment and customer and product safety. The award is the result of holistically integrating sustainability into our company. We understand sustainability as a continuous process that we shape and advance responsibly and together with our employees."
